

Integrated Management System Policy

IrisGuard UK Limited has adopted an Integrated Management System (IMS) for its UK HQ (ISO 9001:2015) and its Jordan regional office (ISO 9001:2015 and ISO 27001:2022). These all conform to International Standards' and other legal requirements.

IrisGuard's purpose is to put in place and proactively manage the quality and information security systems designed to protect the confidentiality, integrity and availability of information and information assets and to reduce information security risks to an acceptable level by the following:

- Classifying all business and client's information as per their sensitivity.
- Proactively assessing information assets risk and implementing practical and effective controls
- Controlling changes to information
- Handling security incident response process and learning from the incidents.
- Preventing interruption to business processes by implementing the business continuity plan

To understand its purpose within the IrisGuard, we have analyzed and determined our external and internal issues that are relevant to the company's purpose and that affect our ability to achieve our intended outcome(s) of the Integrated Management System.

We are committed to continuing this through continual improvement by planning and implementing specified and measurable objectives and activities to achieve customers and other interested parties' satisfaction.

We also recognize the importance of the entire company working within this policy and will ensure all aspects of this policy are communicated to our employees and interested parties on a regular basis and the measurable objectives are regularly communicated and updated.
